NATIONAL PLANNING COMMITTEE

Note for Provincial and State Governments.

1. The National Planning Committee have just concluded their second series of meetings lasting two weeks. As the Committee surveyed the full extent of the problem of National Planning, the subjects they had to deal with grew in number, as each was inter-related to the other, and none could be wholly ignored if a full scheme of Planning was to be drawn up in order to investigate these separate subjects and branches of national activity more fully, and later to endeavour to co-ordinate them, a large number of sub-committees have been set up. These sub-committees consist of experts and public men including representatives of Governments and States.

2. The Committee have had the advantage of receiving the full co-operation of most of the Provincial Governments and several important States. During the sessions just concluded, the Ministers of Industries of Bombay, Madras and Bihar, as well as special representatives from several Provincial Governments, attended and took part in the Committee's deliberations. Representatives from the States of Hyderabad, Mysore, Baroda and Bhopal also participated and helped the Committee with their advice. The Punjab Government sent answers to the Committee's questionnaires and have promised their full co-operation in future. The Bengal Government have so far not sent an answer to the invitation sent to them seeking their co-operation, but it is hoped that they will agree to co-operate with the Committee's work. It is hoped also that many more States will join in this work, notably Kashmir, Travancore, Cochin and Patiala, whose resources enable them to take an effective part in the development of their own and the national wealth. Travancore and Cochin have already promised their co-operation. In the drawing up of a National Plan, it is important that the needs and capacities of all provinces and States should be considered, in order to avoid a lop-sided development which might be unfair to a Province or a State. The presence of the representatives of all the Provinces and of the principal States is thus necessary so that no interests are ignored or overlooked and a proper equilibrium is established.

3. The co-operation of the Government of India and their experts is also very necessary, both in order to obtain all the available information and data as well as to have the benefit their advice and suggestions

4. The sub-committees appointed by the National Planning Committee contain the names of a considerable number of officials of the Government of India, the Provincial Governments and the States. These official members can only join the sub-committees with the permission of their respective Governments. We hope that this permission will be readily given. We realise that high officials are busy men and cannot easily be spared for any length of time. It is not intended to take too much of their time and every attempt will be made to have the meetings of the sub-committee concerned at such place or time as to suit them. Even if they cannot always attend, their general guidance will be helpful.

5. Many Provincial Governments and States have recently had their own enquiries and have drawn up their own programmes or plans of development. All such as have done so are requested to send these plans to the Office of the National Planning Committee in Bombay, so that the Committee might try to fit these plans in so far as is possible, with the general scheme. It is important that no Provincial or State view-point is ignored. In the case of Provinces and States where no such enquiry has so far taken place we would suggest that steps might now be taken to have an inquiry and to collect materials and information for planning.

6. The National Planning Committee will gladly give all the assistance in their power to Provinces or States who institute such enquiries. Where desired special investigators can be sent.

7. Many Provincial Governments and States have also recently passed or initiated legislation relating to land and agriculture; industries, social services, and like subjects. The Committee will be grateful if all such legislation, whether proposed or already passed is sent to them by the Governments concerned.

8. It would greatly facilitate the work both of the National Planning Committee and the Provincial Governments and the States concerned, if each Government appointed a special officer to keep in touch with the Planning Committee, to gather the information required for the purposes of planning, and to keep the Committee informed of his Government's view-point and activities. Such an Officer would lighten the burden of the various Government Departments concerned and would save the time of the Governments and the Committee. It is not suggested that he should leave his Province or State except perhaps for an occasional visit. He should ordinarily remain at the headquarters of his Government. The General Secretary of the National Planning Committee or other representative could visit the headquarters of the Province or State and confer with such officer and suggest to him the type of information required. This direct and personal contact would be of great help to all concerned and would enable us to avoid needless delay. Such a special officer need only be appointed for six months for the present.

9. The National Planning Committee have suggested to the Government of India and the Provincial and State Governments that the forthcoming Census in 1941 might be utilised in so far as is possible, for the collection of additional information for the purposes of planning. A detailed recommendation to this effect will follow. This additional information will not be available for the use of the Committee but it will be of the greatest use for the future development of planning to all Governments concerned. The Census operations offer an opportunity when this might be done without great additional expense. To endeavour to collect this information later separately will involve the setting up of a new organisation at vast expense. An attempt should also be made to follow international standards in the collection of information through the Census and other means. This enables us to fit in this information in international charts and tables.

10. The scope of the work of the National Planning Committee is great and will inevitably involve considerable expenditure. We propose to do it as economically as possible but we do not want the work to suffer for lack of funds. A Budget of expenditure for the next six months ending 31st December 1939 amounting to Rs.50,000/-, has been sanctioned by the Committee. This sum has to be collected from contributions from Provincial Governments and States. Some of these have already contributed generously to our funds and we hope that there will be no difficulty in getting the full sum required. The work that the Planning Committee is doing, whatever it may ultimately lead to, will in any event be of very great help to all the Provincial and State Governments.

11. The Committee proposes to pay the travelling expenses of its members as well as the members of its sub-committees, such expenses not exceeding second class railway fares. In the case of Government or State representatives on the Committee or the sub-committees, it is hoped and expected that the Provincial or State Government concerned will pay the travelling expenses.

12. The Committee have their office and headquarters in Bombay and Prof. K.T.Shah, the Honorary General Secretary of the Committee is in charge of the Office and organisation. Our Office will gladly give every assistance in its power to Provincial and State Governments in the work of planning. The General Secretary will also endeavour to meet the wishes of any Government if they desire him to visit their headquarters to discuss the work of the National Planning Committee.

13. It is proposed to issue soon, on behalf of the National Planning Committee a book containing full information about the Committee and their work. This book will be sent to Provincial and State Governments and to all members of sub-committees.

Jawaharlal Nehru,

June 20, 1939. Chairman.

Dear Sir Mirza Ismail

You would have understood from the Booklet entitled "National Planning Committee", sent by Prof. K.T. Shah, Hony General Secretary, National Planning Committee, Bombay, that the Planning Committee has set itself to its task in all earnestness and that the Sub-Committees are expected to sit very soon. These sub-Committees consist of men who are authorities in their different subjects and I am certain that much can be expected out of their deliberations. For achieving this purpose, the Planning Committee, must be in possession of sufficient funds to meet the various items of expenditure. The Committee will therefore be glad, if your Government can sanction a contribution of Rs. 3000/- in order to enable the Committee to accomplish its work, without any undue delay. The above sum has been fixed after considering various circumstances and the financial condition of your State. The various Provincial Governments have been asked to contribute to the tune of about Rs. 5000/- each in addition to what they have already contributed.

I hope you would kindly expedite the sending of your Government's contribution, as the Committee will be handicapped if the payment is delayed. The grant may be paid in a lump sum or in three or four monthly instalments. The work of the Planning Committee is expected to be over by the end of this year.

Thanking you,

Yours sincerely,

Dear Sir,

I am desired to acknowledge, with thanks, your letter dated 18th July 1939 in the matter of allowing certain officers of this Government to serve on the Sub Committees of the National Planning Committee.

Most of the officers that you mention are in direct charge of certain factories and workshops and would find it difficult to be away from their work for long periods or at frequent intervals. The Govt. will, however, have no objection to their being appointed as members of Sub Committees on the understanding that their services will be available only when they can be spared for this work without prejudice to their regular duties.

Dear Mr. Krishna Rao,

Requesting early reply as the Secretary National Planning Committee may be authorised to send the reply to the Director of Industries & Commerce, Mysore. 1078

The Director of Industries and Commerce in Mysore wrote to me in his letter No. A-12/39-40 dated the 4th July 1939 stating:- (1) that he had suggested my name to the National Planning Committee for serving on the Sub Committees, (2) that he had submitted proposals to the Government that such of the Officers whose co-operation is sought by the National Planning Committee may be permitted to assist the Committee by serving on the Sub Committees and (3) that he was awaiting Government orders on the proposals.

The Honorary General Secretary of the National Planning Committee had asked me to serve on two Sub Committees, viz., (1). Engineering Industries including Transport Industries Sub Committee and 2) Manufacturing Industries Sub Committee; and I had replied saying that I would write to him again on receipt of permission from Government to serve on the Committees.

I have to-day heard from the Secretary to the Manufacturing Industries Sub Committee asking me to attend a meeting of the Sub Committee at Bombay on the 18th August 1939.

I request you therefore to kindly obtain and communicate as early as possible the orders of Government on the proposal made by the Director of Industries and Commerce to enable me to send a reply to the Secretary.
